"I thoroughly enjoyed watching the DVD. Most impressive are Bruce's new classical guitar compositions and also learning more about Alberton and the Kerr Taylor family and their contribution to Auckland and New Zealand's rich heritage. The DVD is a treasure to help commemorate the 150th anniversary of the house being built and for future generations to learn of our past."

Dick Scott, historian and author of numerous publications including "In Old Mt Albert" and "Ask That Mountain" (named by the Sunday Star Times in 1995 as one of the most significant books ever published in New Zealand.)
